

Act In Two Strike Crises

Top—Philip Murray and Benjamin Fairless are the leaders who ended the threatened strike of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee against the gigantic U. S. Steel corporation. Murray is CIO chief, Fairless president of U. S. Steel. The union and "Big Steel" agreed to extend their present contract another week.

Below—After hours of negotiations between both sides, the defense mediation board in Washington announces the end of the Allis-Chalmers strike which has tied up $45,000,000 worth of defense orders for more than two months. The agreement, signed by Max W. Babb, left, company president, and Harold Christoffel, right, U. A. W.—CIO leader, provided that the company and the union select an impartial referee, and for negotiations for a blanket wage increase to be retroactive to date of resumption of production. W. H. Davis, center, was chairman of the mediation board panel which considered the case.

Board Studies School Fund Problem; Revenue Is Pared

Members of the board of education, meeting Monday night, gave considerable attention to financial difficulties which have beset the public schools here as well as in numerous other Ohio communities.

With income from the state school foundation program below the amounts the Salem schools received before the school foundation program went into effect in 1933, the school board this year was forced to adopt an appropriation based on a county budget which was $12,000 less than the previous year's.

MAYOR WORKING ON BLISS WAR ORDERS

Criticized in some quarters for brooding down two jobs, Mayor Norman Phillips explained today that he is helping with production on war orders at the E. W. Bliss plant.

The mayor said he was asked by company officials to help them and he agreed to work four hours each day. He spends the mornings in the mayor's office and the afternoons at the Bliss plant. He said he had no assurance that his job at the shop would be permanent and considered it in the light of helping out in an emergency.

TRUCK DRIVER MEETS DEATH IN COLLISION

Fremont Man Is Pinned Beneath Vehicle Near Deerfield

ACCIDENT OCCURS AT INTERSECTION

Driver In Fatal Crash At Ellsworth Arrested By Patrol

Melvin Frederick Bowley, 33, of 325 E. State st., Fremont, was killed when his steel laden truck overturned on Route 224, a half mile west of Deerfield, following a collision with another truck at 6:15 p. m. Monday.

Luther Bazemore, 47, of Canton ave., Detroit, Mich., operator of the other vehicle, escaped uninjured, although T. J. Dougherty, 55, of Columbia, N. C., a helper on Bazemore's truck, received a bruised chest and fractured ribs.

Bowley died almost instantly of strangulation and a fractured skull. State Patrolman C. W. Calk said.

The victim's head was caught between the truck and the ground when the vehicle upset. It was about three hours before the truck could be righted in the marshy land and Bowley's body removed.

The accident occurred, the patrol reported, when Bowley attempted to pass Bazemore's truck when the latter was attempting to turn into a side road. Bazemore told the patrolman he looked in his rear view mirror and although he saw no cars behind him, he signalled his intention of turning and was almost in the side road when struck by the truck driven by Bowley.

Both vehicles were traveling west at the time. Bazemore, who had been following Route 14, turned on to Route 224 by mistake and was attempting to turn around to get back on Route 14 when the crash occurred, it was explained.

A fatal accident at the junction of Routes 45 and 224 at Ellsworth a week ago Monday resulted in the arrest yesterday of one of the drivers, Carl Milligan, 23, of Guernsey, O., on a charge of second degree manslaughter.

Milligan pleaded not guilty at a hearing before Mayor George Wilson at Canfield yesterday afternoon and was held to the Mahoning county grand jury. Bond was set at $500.

The charge against Milligan was filed by State Patrolman Cornelius Csepke who arrested the defendant at his home near Cambridge Sunday. Milligan is charged with having failed to observe a stop sign at the intersection, resulting in a collision with an automobile driven by Boris Spiroff, 30, Midland, Pa., cafe operator.

Spiroff and Robert Lampson, 19, of Warren, who was riding with Milligan at the time, died in Salem City hospital of injuries suffered in the crash. Three other persons received less serious injuries.

NEW WAR MAY EASE GERMAN BLOCKADE

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Chairman George (D-Ga) of the senate foreign relations committee said today that establishment of a Balkan front in the European war would ease the Nazi counter-blockade against Great Britain and reduce to some extent the chances that the United States might become more deeply involved in the conflict.

While George said it remained to be seen whether Greece and Yugoslavia could halt the German invasion long enough to establish a solid front, he declared that Nazi concentration of airpower there seemed sure to be reflected in a lessening of raids on shipping around the British Isles.

George said he doubted that President Roosevelt was giving any "serious" consideration to convoys at this time and Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) agreed.

George reiterated his expressed belief that Mr. Roosevelt would not order American vessels into European combat zones without first consulting congress.

"I don't think that by any possible stretch of the imagination the navy could be ordered to convoy dangerous merchant ships into the danger zones without the consent of congress," he declared.

Sets Garbage Deadline

YOUNGSTOWN, April 8.—Garbage collections will end at 6 p. m. today unless the city provides satisfactory disposal. Judge George H. Gessner ruled yesterday that garbage may not be buried on abandoned Landsdowne airport. Nearby residents asked an injunction, contending the burial is a health menace. County officials have refused to permit garbage burial outside the city.

Axis Targets In Yugoslavia As Balkan War Opens

View of the Seaport of Split

Main German offensive in the Balkan war is directed at the town of Nis, Yugoslavia, a strategic commercial center 130 miles southeast of Belgrade. Nis is shown above. The other picture is of Split, a Yugoslav seaport on the Adriatic, which was bombed severely by Italian planes. According to the announcement, vital "harbor works and ships" were destroyed at Split.

ALLIS-CHALMERS ON 24-HOUR BASIS

Make Up Lost Time; Steel Continues; Coal Miners Still Idle

(By Associated Press)

The Allis-Chalmers factory at Milwaukee swung back into production of vitally needed military and naval orders today, while the United States Steel corporation's gigantic plants functioned normally after the CIO withdrew an order which would have stopped work at midnight.

Some 400,000 soft coal miners remained idle, however, as a result of a snag in negotiations over a new labor contract.

President Roosevelt meanwhile was expected to discuss the general labor situation today with Philip Murray, head of the CIO.

On 24-Hour Basis

To make up for time lost during a 76-day strike, the Allis-Chalmers plant went on a 24-hour-a-day basis so the $45,000,000 worth of defense orders could be expedited. Under the settlement agreement, worked out with the assistance of the national defense mediation board, an impartial referee will be named to arbitrate disputes, wage negotiations will be continued, and no strike or lockout may be held within a year.

The threatened walkout at 69 plants of U. S. Steel was averted by an agreement between CIO steel workers and the management to continue, April 15, currently de-locked negotiations for a new contract. Union demands include wage increases, union shop and dues check-off.

Shortly before announcement of the decision to continue the U. S. Steel negotiations, National Steel company announced it was granting a 2 percent wage increase.

Married Fifty Years

LISBON, April 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Denny of Lisbon celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with a family dinner in their home. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Harding and daughters of East Palestine; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dixon and daughter, Mrs. Fred DeSelle; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Vulcan, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vulcan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vulcan, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmont Vulcan and children, and James Weeks, all of Lisbon.

Joe Kelley Sounds Easter Egg Appeal

Joe M. Kelley's annual Easter egg hunt is scheduled for next Saturday at four school grounds and Reilly stadium and, outside of a little favorable weather, the one big essential now is to get the eggs.

So, don't be surprised to see Kelley at your front door any time from now on until Friday. He wants eggs and he's a pretty persistent fellow so you might as well start planning, or perhaps, readjusting, your week's budget right now to include a dozen or two eggs. There's no limit of course. You can make it more.

All kinds of candy eggs are acceptable, as well as the plain old fashioned hen egg.

Kelley and his aids Friday night will color the eggs. Last year they handled 280 dozens and distributed them around the school lots.

This year there will be a golden egg at each playground and there'll be a special prize for the tot who uncovers this one.

BURGLARIES PROBED BY DEPUTY SHERIFFS

LISBON, April 8.—Burglaries of three rural schools and a New Waterford inn were investigated yesterday by the sheriff's office.

Thieves broke into The Hammond school in Yellow Creek township and the Forest Hill and Oak Grove schools in Wayne township, stealing federal school lunch supplies valued at about $20 at each place.

A weekend burglary at the Silver Bar in New Waterford netted the intruders $27 in cash, two quarts of wine, one quart of liquor and a keg of beer.

Vandals were reported to have hurled bricks through several windows at the Southern tavern in Negley when refused permission to buy a drink on Sunday, Sheriff George Hayes learned.

BOARD IS BILLED FOR CITY WATER

Meters Installed At School Buildings By Service Director

Board of education members are expected to confer with city officials in the near future regarding water service to the public school buildings.

For years the schools have received free water from the city but recently Service Director Charles Kennedy installed meters at the various buildings.

Last night bills for the first quarter readings, amounting collectively to $230.08, were read by George Koontz, school board clerk.

Years back, it appears, an agreement was entered into between city and school board officials whereby the schools would get free water if the city could use two wells in the Garfield field situated on the High school property which the school board owned. The wells are still in use.

Committees from city council and the school board may meet soon with Solicitor Henry Reese in an attempt to clarify the situation.

SALEM FIREMEN AT KENT CONVENTION

Salem firemen were among more than 400 regular volunteer firemen gathered at Kent State university today to head talks by government experts on methods of combating sabotage and arson in national defense areas.

Also attending the school are 15 junior fire-fighters from Sebring.

"Death Squad" Awaits Nazis

Greek Legions Reported Holding Firm At Rupel Pass; German Losses Are Reported To Be Heavy

(By The Associated Press)

ATHENS, April 8.—The Greeks were reported today to be holding firm at Rupel Pass, through which another German armored column was trying to penetrate to the Struma river valley.

This attempt, dispatches from the front said, and other thrusts farther eastward along the Greek-Bulgarian frontier met terrific resistance which already has cost the Germans heavy losses in men and material.

A German effort to cut communications behind the Greek lines by using parachutists failed, an announcement said, and 130 parachutists were captured and others killed.

The Greek general staff communique said Yugoslav troops fighting in southern Serbia had withdrawn, exposing the left flank of the Greeks, who, however, were "defending the fatherland inch by inch."

The Greeks have a death battalion meeting the brunt of the Nazi attack, the newspaper Kathimerini said, formed of volunteers for service in outposts. Every man, the paper said, was highly qualified for the work of defending the positions to the last moment to cover the withdrawal of the main forces. After that, the paper said, their job was to blow up all communications and bridges before falling back.

The paper related that one group of 150 held back a German force 20 times as large for 36 hours.

Greek correspondents returning from Yugoslavia today brought only fragmentary accounts of the war. They said terrific air battles were being waged over Skopje and other cities and that Yugoslav troops were fighting valiantly against superior German forces.

Apparently Yugoslavia was getting the heaviest fighting since the battle of France. The United States legation at Athens has been unable to communicate with the legation at Belgrade since Sunday.

Balkans Clouded By Censors, Lack Of Lines Outside

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

The Battle of the Balkans, which is bound to have such a great influence on the outcome of the war, continues to be fought fiercely but under a smoke screen of censorship and bad communications which have deprived the outside world of worth-while information regarding the general trend of the conflict.

The most significant word came this morning from the Nazi high command, which announced that the German offensive on the Yugoslav and Greek fronts is being kept up under adverse conditions in the air and on the ground.

That means the mountains and the narrow gorges and the morass like roads of spring are fighting for the defenders. It fits in well, too, with a previous Nazi statement that the invaders were meeting stiff resistance.

I hear many inquiries about Turkey's position. The indications are that she intends to remain neutral for the present, at least. As a matter of fact that attitude should suit Britain well, and probably is being pursued with her agreement.

The Turks' long suit now is defense for while they would be formidable in that role they aren't equipped to wage offensive warfare against the highly mechanized Nazis. Should the Turks attack across the Bulgarian border they would merely lay themselves open to unnecessary grief.

Cost Of Educating Child In Ohio Schools Up $20

COLUMBUS, April 8.—The average annual cost of educating a child in Ohio's public schools has jumped $20 in the past five years, a survey by Dr. Thomas C. Holy of Ohio State university's bureau of education research disclosed today.

The present average cost for each pupil is $105.79 a year, compared with $85.59 for the 1935-36 term, Dr. Holy reported, explaining that costs range from $199.72 to $58.09, depending on the size of the city.

In exempted village school districts expenditures range from $59.26 to $138.59.

WRECKED BOMBER FOUND IN OCEAN

U. S. Naval Patrol Craft Had Been Missing Since Yesterday

(By Associated Press)

NORFOLK, Va., April 8.—A wrecked naval bomber was sighted off Cape Charles, Va., today by searchers for a big naval patrol craft which has been missing since yesterday with 10 men aboard.

Naval authorities here said that it was the missing ship.

Hope that the plane and its men were safe was felt for a time on the basis of reports from Navy and Coast Guard sources in Washington and New York that a ship resembling the missing craft was seen operating safely in New Jersey waters. Later the Atlantic City Coast Guard station identified this plane as one of those searching for the bomber.

The Cape Charles wreckage was sighted from a Navy plane.

Coast Guard headquarters here said that one of their lifeboats, equipped with two-way radio, had reached the scene of the wreckage and had reported that no sign of life was visible in the area.

A coast guard plane flew over the scene and radioed that a yellow life jacket was floating near the wreckage.

SIX GRASS FIRES KEEP FIREMEN BUSY

After extinguishing two grass fires yesterday morning, Salem firemen were called to fight four more before the day ended.

The worst blaze swept across a large tract of land extending from the Benton road to the Damascus road at 2:20 p. m. Several buildings were endangered.

A call at 4:12 p. m. took firemen to the Prospect st. swamp, while a grass fire at 1182 E. Third st. was extinguished at 5:30 p. m. At 9:15 p. m. the department was called to fight a grass fire at the rear of Prospect Street school.

WOTAN'S WEDGE

by FRANCIS GERARD
A PRELUDE
TO BLITZKRIEG

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

Squadron Leader Adams came forward from the aft compartment of the huge flying-boat and addressed himself to McAllister.

"If our 'George' hasn't let us down, Sir Hector, we ought to be pretty near Lybster now."

"Can you put one of these things down just with your own lights?" asked Meredith.

"We can on a moonlit night like this," nodded the squadron leader. "In point of fact," he added, "we're supposed to be able to put them down whether there's a moon or not, but the moon does help."

"Glad to hear it," was Meredith's comment.

Adams exchanged a few words with the man who sat at the control table, tirelessly watching his innumerable dials and gauges, before going forward to climb into the left-hand pilot's seat. He laid a gentle hand on the half wheel of the joy-stick and eased his left shoulder slightly backwards to enable him to switch over a little while to the right-hand controls.

Ten minutes later Squadron Leader Adams was exchanging compliments with a voice which came to him through a megaphone from a small motor launch as the big flying-boat lay bobbing gently on the water.

"Are ye the fleeingboat we're to expect?"

"No," shouted Adams impatiently. "We're a Yankee liner in distress."

"Ah weel, ye're the craft, nae doot."

Two minutes later, Meredith was sitting in the stern of the coast-guard's motor launch chugging towards the shore. At Lybster, Meredith, Sir Hector and their two Special Branch companions were given to the police station where a gray-haired, military looking individual introduced himself as the chief constable.

"Everything's been arranged," he informed them. "There are a dozen men waiting in the station here and I've got four cars to take you to Wick."

"Good," said Meredith. "Who's in charge of them?"

"My own superintendent," replied the chief constable. "He knows the whole of this country better than anyone else round here."

"That's excellent," commented Sir Hector. "Well, we may as well get going."

The four cars set off north at intervals of five minutes so that no suspicion should be aroused by a procession.

The cars' rendezvous was on the southern edge of Sinclair's Bay at a little place called Ackergill. They did not stop in Wick. Here a hurried conference between Meredith, Sir Hector and the local superintendent took place.

"Tell me, Superintendent," said Meredith, "do you know any farms just left of the road between Wick and Keils about three miles north of the former?"

"Aye," responded the grizzled officer cautiously. "Ah ken several. There are two sma' holdings, wee farms belonging to guid friends of mine."

"But there above suspicion?" insisted Meredith.

"Aye. I wouldn't say they were friends o mine if Ah had me doots."

"Is there no farm lying inland along that stretch that might be the place we're looking for?"

"Weel, there's old Sandy Bruce's place, but it's a matter of three four year the noo since Sandy went awa' to the United States of America."

"And has it lain fallow ever since?"

"Aye. There's n'er a body nigh the place."

"I'll bet that's the spot," said Meredith. "But we'd better confirm it by following Makyn's lorry."

It had been established by the Clerkenwell Division before they had left London that one of Makyn's lorries was due in Wick that night at midnight. Meredith was gambling on that unexplained blank time in the log-book and the fact that this lorry might be expected to do what Beef's had done. Two of the local police, familiar with the neighborhood, were told off to wait in their car up a farm track off the road, and not to lose sight of the lorry once they poked it up.

In the meantime, Meredith, Sir Hector and the rest descended on the parents of another of the local police who had a cottage in Ackergill. The woman of the house, a cheerful, bustling body, seemed in no way put out at this invasion of her home and settled down to brew endless cups of strong, black tea which Sir Hector and Meredith saw it was the correct thing to lace with whisky.

"I thought this was a dry district," commented Meredith slyly.

"Aye, Sir John," nodded the superintendent. "But the police in the execution of their duties must not be denied a little medicinal stimulant."

"True," said Meredith and grinned at the twinkle in the police chief's innocent blue eye.

It was at a quarter to four in the morning that the police car returned to report that they had located the suspected farm and that it had proved to be he neglected property of Sandy Bruce who had taken himself off to America.

"Do you know the surroundings of the farm well?" Meredith asked the superintendent and at the other's nod went on, "Is there enough cover for us to conceal watchers?"

Again the superintendent nodded. "In that case," said Meredith, turning to Sir Hector who sat yawning and stretching at his side, "the sooner they're posted the better."

It was in the chill hour before dawn that Meredith and the superintendent posted a ring of watchers. When the sun came up the farm was under surveillance from the little hills of heather surrounding it.

Matthew Beef was not a particularly imaginative man but during the long hours he spent in the semi-underground cellar which was his prison, he went through a period of miserable introspection. Beef had his full share of that dogged devotion displayed by the cockney to a superior who has been tried and tested beyond all question and the feeling uppermost in his mind was one of regret that he had failed Meredith. The fact that his failure was due to no fault of his own was not allowed to weigh with him. He cherished uncharitable thoughts against Narky Joe Summers but he blamed himself more. His whole being now was concentrated, not so much on the perils of his own predicament as on some means whereby he could make up for his failure by some coup of which Meredith would approve. How he was to achieve this, he did not know.

The cellar in which Beef was imprisoned possessed a tiny window not six inches high on a level with the ground outside. He could barely reach this and it was firmly barred. The door was of stout oak with an ordinary, if ponderous, lock. Even if he had been able to kick this down, the noise would certainly be heard by his captors. He had no means of picking or removing the lock. So his sole chance of escape seemed dependent upon his ability to surprise one of his gaolers when, at rare intervals, they brought him something to eat or drink. This would not prove easy since they invariably came in pairs; one of whom carried the food, the other standing in the doorway holding an electric torch in one hand and a revolver in the other.

Beef had no means of judging time other than the daylight fading through his small window. He had been sitting in the dark for some hours when he heard footsteps echoing down the concrete floor outside his cellar. They paused before the door. Beef looked up expectantly straining his eyes in the darkness. The slamming of a door somewhere, followed by the sound of a man's voice speaking German, came to Beef's ears and the footsteps continued past his door to die away.

Beef's tense attitude relaxed once more. His head nodded abominably. This was not astonishing, for he had taken two severe beatings at the hands of these people and these he had endured with the mute courage of an ox. They had used short lengths of rubber hose on him. It had taken all the veteran's fortitude to bear that second beating and he dreaded to think what he might do were he to suffer a third. Had they but realized it, another minute of that second ordeal would have broken him, but they had not persisted. His apparent impassivity under this brutal punishment persuaded them that they were wasting their time. That they would return to this form of coercion, Beef was miserably convinced.

Ordinarily a mild man, Sergeant Beef under this appalling treatment had had depths of unsuspected vindictiveness stirred up in him. At the present moment, his desire to further Meredith's interests was almost coupled with an earnest wish to inflict something of what he had suffered on his persecutors. That Rotz, for instance, a perishing, dirty swine fifth his salutim' and his heel clickin' and his "Jawohl, Herr General," Rotz, indeed, was Rotz!

Beef was wrenched from his thoughts by the sound of approaching footsteps once more. He stiffened into complete immobility. For what seemed a long time there was no other sound after those footsteps had halted outside his door. Then there came a faint metallic click and scrape. Beef's attention crystallized as he realized that the key was being taken from its hole. It was not being used to unlock the door, it was being removed. There came a slight shuffling sound from the passage and then a sharp ringing note like that of a tiny bell.

Beef heard some object slither along the floor and the next moment he was on his hands and knees by the door, for it had seemed that a ghost of a whisper was coming to him from the corridor.

"Can you hear me?"

The words were so faint that Beef wondered for a moment if he had ever heard them then he dropped to the floor upon his stomach and whispered under the crack of the door, "Yes! Who are you?"

"Never mind that," came that ghostly response. "The key is on the floor your side of the door. Can't do any more. Good luck."

Miss DeLong Of New Jersey Richard Chamberlain's Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chamberlain have returned from Woodbury, N. J., where they attended the wedding of Miss Evelyn DeLong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon DeLong of that city, to their son, Richard Chamberlain of Woodbury, at 3 p. m. Saturday.

The wedding, which was attended by other relatives and friends from Salem, was solemnized in the First Presbyterian church by Rev. Montague White, pastor of the church. The church was decorated for the ceremony with baskets of gladioli, azaleas, other spring flowers, and palms.

Miss Howard Stringer of Woodbury played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Alice Dawn Davis of Woodbury, who sang "No Other Love" (Wright-Forrest) "Through the Years" (Youmans) and "Ich Liebe Dich" (Grieg).

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white net over tulle, fashioned with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves and fingertip tulle veil, caught with orange blossoms. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of gardenias and sweet peas.

Mrs. John Link of Woodbury was her sister's matron of honor, wearing a gown of pink net over tulle with matching mitts and hat. Her old-fashioned bouquet was of yellow daisies, pink and white sweet peas and pink roses.

Miss Jean Gallatin of Salem and Mrs. Albert Cabal of Woodbury, bridesmaids, wore aqua net gowns over tulle, with matching mitts and flower hats with tulle bows. Their bouquets were like that of the matron of honor, with pink tones predominating.

Lieut. William Hodgdon of Pittsburgh, Pa., a Sigma Chi fraternity brother of the groom, served as best man. John Link of Woodbury and Duane Dilworth of Salem were ushers.

Mrs. DeLong's costume was of aqua crepe, worn with a corsage of violets. Mrs. Chamberlain wore a navy ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of Tulasia roses.

Following a reception at the Homestead in Woodbury, the couple left for a wedding trip to Asheville, N. C. They will be at home after April 15 at 14 Lake ave., Woodbury Heights.

Mrs. Chamberlain, a graduate of the Glassboro State Teachers' college, is a teacher in the Oaklyn, N. J., schools. Mr. Chamberlain, a graduate of Salem High school and Purdue university, is employed by the Socov-Vacuum Oil Co. at Paulsboro, N. J.

Files Libel Action

CINCINNATI, April 8.—S. A. Postle, head of the Federal Food and Drug administration office, has filed a libel action requesting seizure of 43 units of a heatless permanent wave preparation traced to an east-end beauty shop. Postle said the "treatments," shipped from California, contained poisonous ammonium hydrogen sulphide.

WALFENBURG, Colo.—Out of 76 draftees and volunteers in Huerfano county only one has been rejected for physical disability. Also only one appeal of a ruling of the local board has been made in the country.

ing 10-cents-an-hour wage increases to approximately 20,000 workers. U. S. Steel employees 251,000 and has many important defense contracts.

Continue Coal Conference

Further conferences in the soft coal dispute were to be held at New York today. Southern mine operators had balked at a proposal to eliminate a wage differential under which southern miners make 40 cents a day less than similar workers in the north. The CIO United Mine Workers demanded a flat $7 a day, compared with $6 a day in the north and $5.60 in the south under the old contract.

An AFL machinists strike in the San Francisco area, called yesterday to enforce wage demands, closed about 50 plants and projects involving estimated $7,000,000 in national defense contracts.

At Detroit, 85,000 employees of the Ford Motor company remained idle as a result of a CIO called strike at the River Rouge plant, but James F. Dewey, federal conciliator, expressed confidence he could arrange a face-to-face meeting of union and management soon to discuss settlement of the difficulties.

The union demands contractual, collective bargaining, 10 cents an hour wage increases, reinstatement of employees it claims were dismissed or union activity and seniority guarantees.

Another important development was action of the National labor relations board in ordering collective bargaining elections at Ford plants at River Rouge and Detroit. The elections must be held within the next 45 days. Employees will have their choice of a CIO or AFL union as collective bargaining agent, or they may reject both.

Other strikes for higher wages were in progress at the Lukens Steel company, Coatsville, Pa., Phelps-Dodge Copper Corp., Elizabeth, N. J., and the Harris-Seybold-Potter company, Cleveland machinery factory.

A threatened strike of firemen, linemen and oilers on Great Lakes and tugboats was settled last night. Details were not announced, but the union had asked wage increases for 600 tugmen.

SHIPPING LOSSES HIT HIGH FIGURE

LONDON, April 8.—Failure of overdue ships to turn up sent British allied and neutral shipping losses for two of the past five weeks to approximately 150,000 tons each—heaviest toll of 1941 in the Battle of the Atlantic—authoritative sources declared today.

The average weekly loss of shipping during March was placed by the admiralty at 98,000 tons.

Amended losses for the week ended March 23 listed 30 ships totaling 150,700 tons—the biggest loss of any week this year. For the week ended March 16 amended losses were given as 27 ships of 146,098 tons.

Losses declined during the week ended March 23 to 17 ships aggregating 59,141 tons, the admiralty report said, and went up again the following week to 20 ships of 77,575 tons.

In announcing the latest losses, an authoritative source declared the Battle of the Atlantic "may well decide the result of the war."

An admiralty statement said Britain had conveyed 200,000,000 gross tons of shipping since the start of the war.

"The greater part of this vast tonnage," the statement said, "arrived unmolested by the enemy."

Balkans' Fighting Clouded By Censors

I should say that Britain would much prefer that Turkey stand guard over the Dardanelles, to prevent the Germans from breaking into the Near East for an attack on Egypt. If and when the Turks are really needed in an offensive against Hitler on the Balkan peninsula, it wouldn't be surprising to see them in action.

Overnight reports show that Hitler apparently doesn't intend to slacken his spring blitzkrieg either against the British Isles or against shipping because of the Balkan campaign.

Britain may find herself a considerable gainer, however, in that the fuhrer's offensive in southeast Europe will be burning up gasoline and using other supplies which he can ill afford to lose.

Warns Gas Industry

CINCINNATI, April 8.—The Gas industry has been warned to prepare itself for "improbable but not inconceivable" war on American soil. Thomas J. Strickler, president of the American Gas association, told the joint Fifth Annual Accounting conference of the association and the Edison Electric institute that it was only through "prudent planning in advance" that England's utilities were able to take war in stride.

You Should Recognize WEAK FEET

Facts gleaned in surveys reveal seventy five per cent of the children suffer defective feet! Why? Because parents do not early enough recognize the symptoms of a coming foot ailment. If the child complains of tired feet, aches or pains in the feet or legs, excessive perspiration or swollen feet—something is wrong! In 9 cases out of 10, the fault lies within incorrect shoes! Defense Bringing Strange Changes

Francisco, the elite hairdresser in the east, becomes plain Frank, an overalls toolmaker, and a California maker of cream puffs resumes his former occupation as inspector of ordinance materials in the strange transitions being effected through the nation-wide registration of workers possessing skills needed in defense industries, according to Arthur S. Johnston, manager of the Salem Employment Security Center.

While the contrasts have not been quite as pronounced, the Salem office of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation has recorded some instances that are almost parallel, Johnston said. One example is the case of a man who had been working for years as a meat and grocery clerk, but who is now engaged in a machine shop as a lathe operator. Another placement lists a man who turned from farming to resume his former occupation as a molder in a foundry.

"By combing every possible source in its campaign to encourage registration of workers, the Ohio State Employment Service is building a reservoir of labor urgently needed to accelerate the production of materials essential to national defense," Johnston said.

He added that the greatest need today is for men who are trained in aircraft manufacture, shipbuilding, and in machine and tool manufacture. Workers possessing these vital skills but are not now using their experience are being cautioned not to resign their present jobs, he said. They are merely to register their qualifications at the Salem Employment Security Center so that they may be called when and if there is a job in the defense program open for them.

Defense workers now employed are asked not to register.

SUNNYVALE, Cal.—The nephew of Mrs. Victor Sproules caught a jackrabbit when it was still too young to outrun him. He gave it to his aunt. She raised and trained the rabbit and now it follows her downtown like a dog, eats with housecats and dogs, jumps into her roadster when she goes for a drive and will come looting to her whenever she calls.

U. S. EMBASSY IN ROME IS GUARDED

ROME, April 8.—A strong cordon of troops, reinforcing the pickets of the past few days, guarded the United States embassy today, while large crowds demonstrated enthusiasm for the war with Yugoslavia under Premier Mussolini's balcony.

Twice, the throngs, brought it Duce to his balcony, but the demonstration broke up without menacing the embassy and the adjoining consulate.

The precautions presumably were taken because of press denunciations of the United States for aiding Italy's enemies and for sequestering Italian ships.

Fascist party posters appeared on walls of the city, headed,
"gangsters" and saying:
"Scratch an American and you will find there a pirate gangster."

"The acts of theft committed by the United States in appropriating Italian and German ships which took refuge in her ports but were protected by international law is explained only by remembering the 'outlaw' origin of the present ruling class in the republic of the United States of America."

"As an extreme, Puritan hypocrisy over there arrested the crews which used their sacrosanct right to put out of commission their own ships before pirates took them over."

"It is not for nothing that British and United States people call themselves 'cousins'."

"Not only is their language identical but their instincts are the same and so are their actions."
"History will punish the 'cousins' as only it knows how to punish."

Out Of House And Home

DALLAS—About the only place
Oscar would be safe is in a cell, and he might chew his way out of that.

He was blamed for eating away most of a wooden pole that supported a shed at the livestock pound. The shed was nearing collapse.

Overseer P. O. Davis ordered an auction to clear the pound of its inhabitants—all goats.

Oscar's four pals brought $4.65.
Oscar, with his weakness for wood, was sold down the river for 35 cents.

LITTLE CHATS ON PUBLIC NOTICES

By J. E. Pollard, Journalism Professor,
Ohio State University

They All Have a Word For It
So important is the principle of giving notice that it is not strange that practically all civilized people—and even savage tribes—have followed this custom. In some cases they have done so for centuries.

In English, this is called "being put on notice," and the form it takes is the public notice. If it is printed it may also be called legal or official advertising. The underlying principle is that where the rights of others—individual or public—are involved, such persons have a fundamental right to due notice.

Take the familiar abbreviation,
"N. B." While not a prescribed legal form, it stands for the Latin NOTA BENE, meaning "note well."

The French post notices in public places such as the postoffice or telegraph office. They call such notices AFFICHES. They have another noun, AVIS, which is similar to the English "advice" in the sense of information. In German to give notice is to give ANK-UNDIGUNG which is OFFENT-LICH, or public, if personal, and AMLICH if official. In Italian the equivalent of notice is NO-TIZIE.

But in any language it means about the same. To be put on notice is to be put on one's guard or forever hold his peace. Whatever the circumstances, whatever the language, both steps are vital:
To give due notice, and to take heed accordingly.

How LONG is a Gallon of Gasoline?

WELL, it's longer going downhill than up, longer going slow than fast—but the important new discovery of the year (or since Buick's Compound Carburetion* appeared) is that it's longer when you have two carburetors teamed like Buick's than when you have one!

Here's why:

In easy going like most of your travel, just one of Buick's smaller-than-usual carburetors thriftyly handles all engine requirements.

Only when you want extra power does the second carburetor come in.

Then, momentarily, it adds extra fuel and extra power only while it's needed.

Result is that carburetion is always fitted to your driving need.

You're never driving with a carburetor that's bigger than you need for low-range travel, or one that's too small for top-range performance.

Now the net result is that the same-size engines give up as much as 10% to 15% more miles-per-gallon than last year.

And that's a handsome saving —mighty handsome in a car big and roomy and smart as a Buick.

Look over the next Buick that passes you—or better yet, go trial-drive one—and see if you don't agree.

*Optional equipment on the Buick SPECIAL, standard on all other models.

Louis Takes On Musto Tonight As Championship Target No. 16

VERY FEW BETTING THAT FIGHT WILL LAST FIVE HEATS

Ex-Grocery Boy Has Advantages In Low Style, Short Stature

ST. LOUIS, April 8.—Everything else having failed, a former grocery boy has been drafted to oppose Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis tonight.

Tony Musto, a Chicago Italian as short and stubby as a crew hair-cut, is championship target No. 16 in the parade of fistic talent that has included fat men, skinny men, clowns and even an orthodox pugilist or two in Louis' stop-a-month tour of the country.

Musto, who graduated from delivery boy to steel puddler before turning fighter, will be one of the few persons among the 20,000 expected to jam the arena who thinks he will subdue Louis.

Few bets are available that the scrap will go beyond five rounds—and that curfew is forecast with Musto flat on his back.

Despite the anticipated outcome, Mike Jacobs, New York promoter and shepherd of the Louis interests, thumbed through $38,000 in advance sales and predicted the total receipts would be $55,000.

The only thing that distinguishes this stop on the Louis tour is that the champion encounters a foe who fights naturally from a crouch.

Except for Tony Galento and Al McCoy, who adopted the underground style for a night, Louis has tangled only with upright young men.

Another disadvantage which isn't expected to disturb Louis in the least is the challenger's short stature. Standing upright, Musto measures 5 feet, 7 inches which is six inches less than Louis. Folded into his fighting pose, the Italian scratches his nose on the champion's belt.

POLLY AND HER PALS

BOWLING RESULTS

With only one more week of the regular schedule left, American League bowlers were assured of a close finish in the battle for first place as the result of last night's matches.

Fitzpatrick's Service won three games from Ohio Edison and now are only one and a half games behind Fernengels, who dropped one game to Demings. The first and second place teams are scheduled to fight it out next week, but the match has been postponed until April 21. That match will complete the season for Fitzpatrick's but Fernengels have one postponed match with the Electric Furnace to make up.

American Laundry took two from the Masons last night and the Electric Furnace won three on a forfeit from Lease Drugs.

Red White of Fernengels had a good night with a 202 and 211 for a 592 total; Johnny Meier of Demings finished with a 212; DeRienzo of Fitzpatrick's had a 201; Lind of Demings a 203; Hemphill of the Masons a 210 and Jackson of the Electric Furnace a 213.

The standings remained pretty much the same in the Quaker City league at Grate's last night, the only change moving C. B. Hunt's from seventh to sixth place as the result of three wins over the Coy Buicks.

The loop-leading Althouse Motors were handed three games on a forfeit by the Moose while the second-place Colonial Finance and the third-place Capel Realtors were winning two from the Hotel Lape and the Masons, respectively. These results give Althouse a two-game lead over Finance, and the Finance for a four-game margin over Capel.

M. Thomas of the Lape captured individual honors last night as he racked up a 224 and a 242 in his last two games to finish with a 638 total.

Armstrong cracked out a 227 in his third game for Althouse. Willis also turned in a 218 in his third tilt, which added the Motors in posting a 959 total. C. Huffer led the Finance crew with a 201 in his second try.

The Golden Eagle came through with a clean sweep over the Salem Motors, and Flooding & Reynard took two out of three from the Bachelors.

In a special match at the Masonic alleys, the F. O. E. ladies' team defeated Columbiana, 2100 to 2092.

Bill Lee Believes Cubs Need His Aid

PLAQUEMINE, La., April 8.—Big Bill Lee, patting his beloved bird dogs goodbye, prepared to leave for Chicago today and tell the Cubs' bosses personally that they couldn't possibly make a profit this season unless they hired him—which in turn couldn't be done for the measly $12,500 they're offering.

"The way I look at it," said Lee, owlishly solemn behind his spectacles, "they need me as much as I need them. With the pitching staff as it shapes up now they won't have a chance of finishing in the first division without my help."

"They have to have a pennant contender or there won't be any crowds. Without the crowds they lose money and without baseball I lose money so I don't see why we can't get together."

If this mutuality of purpose doesn't lead to some agreement, Bill said he has ideas of opening up a sporting shop. He had no suggestion as to what the Cubs might do to turn an honest dollar without him.

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—Manager Del Baker doesn't know where his Detroit Tigers will finish in the coming American league race but he cheerfully adds, "Neither does anybody else." Instead of predicting, Baker says: "All I can say is that we'll do the best we can with what we have."

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Add Jimmy Fox to Gene Thompson's admiring public, said the Boston Red Sox slugger of the Cincinnati Reds' pitcher, "Broke over two of the best curves I've looked at in many a day in fanning me. I wish he was with us."

Tied at six wins each, the Reds and the Red Sox met for the 13th time today.

PULASKI, Va.—When the Cleveland Indians were getting only two or three hits a game in plying the players maintained they would get going once they neared the north. It seems they were right. The Tribe made 16 hits Saturday, 12 Sunday and 11 yesterday, and the weekend clouting included eight home runs.

"If he'll come into the Maine woods with me a few weeks before he starts training for Louis, I'll bet I'll put 10 pounds on him," says Charley. "and not an ounce of it will be fat." Add winning streaks: The Stanley (N.C.) High basketballers just have completed their third straight undefeated season, for a total of 83 consecutive wins. And the Little Rock Highs have won 40 track meets in a row and 15 consecutive state titles. Pants Rowland of the Cubs' brain trust is looking over Brooklyn's Montreal farm hands, indicating a Dodger deal for Billy Herman is not a dead pigeon—yet.

PERRONI ENLISTS WITH U. S. FORCES

ATLANTA, April 8.—Enlistment of Patsy Perroni, Canton, O. heavyweight boxer, in the nation's military service, was announced last night from the ring where he had been billed to meet Lee Savold of Des Moines, Ia., in a 10-round bout.

Substitution for Perroni, Mike Alfano of New York was unable to answer the bell in the third round, his left eye having been closed by Savold's punches in the second.

Promoter Jack Kearns said Perroni was one of a group of eight boxers recruited for the navy as athletic instructors by Lieutenant Commander Gene Tunney, former world heavyweight champion.

Previously, it was announced that Perroni and the others would enlist in the naval reserve for four years and would be assigned to naval air training stations. His rank would be boatswain's mate.

RICKEY DECLARES FARM CHAIN BEST WAY TO BIG TIME

Says Cards Have 60 Men In Majors Beside Their Own; Knows Rookies

NEW ORLEANS, April 8.—Branch Rickey, daddy of the much-criticized baseball farm chain, defended his offspring today with facts, figures and a declaration that "the best way for a young ball player to get to the big leagues is to join the St. Louis Cardinal system."

Here visiting the New Orleans Southern association link in the chain, the St. Louis general manager said the Cards "put more players in the majors last year than all other 15 big league clubs combined."

"About 60 men now in the big leagues came from our farms," he said. "Besides all our own men." I doubt if any other chain has a dozen men on other clubs.

He sat in the stands, keeping up a fire of comment on the individual characteristics of the New Orleans players. When a hearer expressed surprise that he should know rookies on his minor league teams so well, the outspoken Cardinal boss replied:

"It's my business to know them. When one of them has something I want to know it. And he'll go to the top."

"We not only can get a boy to do the majors quickly but we have five big minor league clubs—Savannah, Rochester and Columbus, O., in Class AA and New Orleans and Houston in Class A. Those offer opportunities along the way."

"The chains saved the minors, and thereby saved baseball. We carried them through the depression. And when we go into a league we don't look for the best team, but for the strategic one—the one that 'carries' the league."

"We help the players, give the fans better baseball, and help the minor leagues, and people point the finger of scorn at us."

Buck Poloists Finally Win Contest - But How!

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, April 8.—Flashing the spotlight around the Ohio sports scene:

There was kidding on the campus today as Ohio State university's polo team celebrated its first victory of the campaign. The kidding centers around the Bucks' Saturday clash with the Cincinnati cavalry. Only two members of the Queen City quartet showed up. One was a left-hander, and the other wore glasses with a protective guard. To round out their personnel, the invaders borrowed four Ohio horses and two Ohio substitutes.

Then the regulation game of eight chukkers of seven minutes each was cut to four sessions of five minutes each.

And, after all that, the Ohio squad won by 3 to 0—giving the Bucks one victory and three defeats for the season.

Theatre Attractions

"The Penalty" melodrama starring Edward Arnold, Lionel Barrymore and young Gene Reynolds, with Marsha Hunt, Robert Sterling and Veda Ann Borg, is the State's attraction Wednesday only.

The story of a gangster, his young son and an old couple with whom the boy is sent to live, who teach him another kind of law than might, is excellently done, with stellar performances by Arnold as the gangster whose one redeeming feature is his love for his son, Gene Reynolds as the boy, Barrymore and Emma Dunn as the old couple, who change the boy's life.

Concluding at the State tonight is the adventure-drama, "The Bad Man", starring Wallace Beery in the role of a Mexican bandit, with Lionel Barrymore, Ronald Reagan, Laraine Day and Henry Travers.

The Grand's double bill Wednesday is: "Blonde Inspiration", comedy-romance with John Shelton, Virginia Grey, Albert Dekker, Charles Butterworth, Donald Meek and Reginald Owen. The story of a timid young writer of blood curdling western adventures; and a mystery-thriller, "The Devil Commands", with Boris Karloff, Richard Fiske and Amanda Duff, with Karloff as a crazed inventor of a way to learn the secrets of the world after death.

LISBON BOARD IS GIVEN HIGH RATING

LISBON, April 8.—Local draft board No. 3, visited recently by H. E. Zepernick, district supervisor of the selective service, received one of the highest ratings in the state for the efficiency with which it has conducted its work.

The board is composed of W. D. Morris, Lisbon, chairman, Henry Ashbridge, East Palestine, Charles Russell, Wellsville, and Presley Hart, Salineville. Jack Johnson of Lisbon is clerk and Miss Grace Woodward of Wellsville, stenographer and typist.

One vacancy on the board, caused by the resignation of James G. Stevenson, has not yet been filled although the recommendation of the county committee, composed of Judge Joel H. Sharp, Judge H. W. Hammond, and Malcolm W. Thompson of East Liverpool, for the appointment of Jack Grubbs, Lisbon Legionnaire, has been forwarded to Columbus.

Clerk Johnson today stated there are 70 men in 1-A classification in this district who have had medical examinations and are ready for service, and there are 77 others in the 1-A bracket awaiting medical exams, out of 1372 questionnaires classified to date by the board.

There are already 125 men from this district in the army which, with the 70 ready for service and the possibility of 77 others passing, would give this district almost 20 per cent eligibility.

Men classified to date also list 853 in 3-A; 12 in 2-A; 105 in 1-B; 2 in 1-C; one in 4C; 29 in 1-D; 6 in 4-D; and 87 in 4-F.

ACT TO MINIMIZE SHIPPING LOSSES

Advisory Boards To Urge Perfect Month; Meet In Youngstown

The National Association of Shippers Advisory Boards, in cooperation with the Allegheny regional advisory board, in which Salem is included, has again named April as the perfect shipping month for the purpose of promoting another national campaign against waste as result of improper packing and handling.

This is the fifth annual drive and the records indicate that the efforts put forth have been so productive of good results that the continued interest of every shipper-receiver is warranted. The Allegheny regional advisory board will again undertake to promote and stimulate to the greatest possible extent the fullest cooperation on the part of all shipper-receivers who have made such worthwhile progress on reduction of freight or express claims.

A general meeting of shippers, receivers, and railroads of the Youngstown-Salem district will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the Central Y. M. C. A., Youngstown with the following program:

"What About Loss and Damage?" J. W. Flusk, superintendent of stations and car service, Erie railroad, Jersey City, N. J.

Voca-film "Perfect Shipping" depicting loss, damage, and perfect shipping.

"Outlook for Car Supply". J. F. Duesenberry, district manager, car service division, Association American Roadways, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Open forum and question period. All those in Salem engaged in shipping, receiving, packing or loading of freight, as well as traffic departments of all local industries, are urged and cordially invited to attend this meeting. F. M. Russell, traffic manager, general Fireproofing Co., Youngstown will act as general chairman of this meeting. M. Y. Murray, agent, Pennsylvania railroad, Salem, and L. H. Baldinger, traffic manager, Mullins Manufacturing corporation, have been appointed to represent the Salem district in this matter, and to promote attendance at the Youngstown meeting.

PENSIONERS LOSE IN HOUSE MEASURE

Lack Three-Fifths Vote, However, To Prevent Home Seizure

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, April 8.—The old age pensioners demonstrated last night a powerful influence over the Ohio house of representatives, but it was not quite potent enough.

The pensioners, championed by a Democrat, corralled more than a majority of the representatives in behalf of a proposal to prohibit the state from seizing their homesteads. The rules, however, required three-fifths.

Vote Is 70 to 47

By a vote of 70 yes to 47 no, the house rejected a resolution which would have submitted to the voters of the state a constitutional amendment embracing the homestead exemption. Eighty-three favorable votes were needed for its adoption.

Under the present system the state has a prior claim to the property of an aid for aged recipient and upon his death may sell it to recover the amount of pensions paid plus four per cent interest.

Rep. John C. Hess (D-Stark), author of the resolution, asserted that the present arrangement "merely provides loans—not relief—to the aged."

Fifty-six Democrats and 14 Republicans voted for the resolution. Against it were 46 Republicans and one Democrat.

Rep. Lody Huml (D-Cleveland), the lone Democrat, termed the proposal a "false and futile gesture." He contended "the state can't take the property now."

Vote State Defense Council

While the house debated pensioners' needs, the senate voted unanimously to set up a 13-member state defense council. The new agency would have authority to investigate and make recommendations to the governor and legislature for better cooperation of industry, labor and the public in national defense. The bill goes to the house.

The senate also approved unanimously a measure obligating the state to pay up to half the cost of soldiers' relief. The expense now borne by the counties, runs about $1,800,000 a year. The state welfare director would determine how much the state should share. This bill, too, goes to the house.

The house, disposing of the pension resolution, then proceeded to complete enactment of legislation appropriating $918,500 for the care of insane patients for whom there is no space in state institutions.

It also passed a bill permitting the use of fuel oil in mine machinery and sent it to the senate.

Ballot on Budget

Speaker William McCulloch announced that the biennial appropriation bill, carrying $351,800,000 for operation of the state government in 1941-42, would be brought up for a vote in the house tomorrow afternoon.

The senate health committee approved proposed legislation empowering the state board of barber examiners to establish minimum prices and opening and closing hours for barbers. Those who refused to conform would become liable to suspension of revocation of their licenses.

The health committee also recommended for passage a bill requiring physicians to make blood tests of pregnant women, a part of the campaign against venereal disease. Women who declined to submit to a test would have to set forth their reasons in an affidavit to the state health department.

Up for a vote in the senate today was the bill imposing stricter regulations on horse race track and tripling the state's tax on horse race betting.
